

NATIONAL DINNER
13.10.16 NATURAL HISTORY MUSEUM, LONDON

2016

Table Booking Form

Enjoy a magical evening of entertainment, networking and splendour in a truly unique venue.

The EIC National Dinner will take place against the spectacular backdrop of Hintze Hall at the Natural History Museum which showcases some of the museum's most famous collections including Dippy the Diplodocus skeleton.

The evening will begin with a canapé and drinks reception offering guests the first opportunity to network with over 500 energy industry professionals who will be in attendance. Following the reception, guests will be welcomed into Hintze Hall where they will be able to take in their first views of their iconic surroundings. A sumptuous three-course meal will follow accompanied by free-flowing wine, beer and soft drinks.

We also look forward to announcing the winner of the EIC Award for Supply Chain Excellence and celebrating the achievements of our members. Information on how to enter the 2016 award will be available shortly. The dinner is exclusively open for EIC members and their guests and tables of 10, 12 and individual places are available.
